Paris (March 2) Correspondence of the London Times.

There have been rumors for some days past that it is contemplated to resume negotiations with the Mexican Government after the capture of Puebla. It is undeniable that the results of the campaign have saily disappointed the Emperor, and caused much discontent, which is not conflued to civilians. The wavest of Islantiat there is no certainty of doing much better within a reasonable time. The ovacuation of Tampico as of Jalapa, and particularly the former, was a measure imposed by necessity. Every one, not excepting the Emperor, is heartly sick of the whole affair.

From the London Post, (City Arriete,) March II. In speaking of Mexican affairs, we stated last week that, according to reliable information from Paris, much disagnetind was prevalent on the subject. The advicus to-day confirm that, and at the same time lead to the bellef that a victory once obtained by General Porry, so as to maintain the well-anown reputation of the gallant French troops, the Emperor will let the Mexican people settle their own affairs as best they think proper.
